CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.—The subscriber having completed a purchase of the exclusive right of the new and useful improvement in the Cooking Stove called the Improved Premium or Conical, takes this method to caution all persons from infringing upon his right. The stove to which he alludes is probably best known by the name of the CONICAL Stove, and has his name on the front. This stove was introduced into market in its present shape in the Spring of 1835, and about 1500 to 2000 sold. They have generally given great satisfaction, and the subscriber has made such arrangements as will enable him to supply the market the coming season. And as he has been informed that there are persons in the vicinity of Boston, who have already commenced manufacturing them, and others are preparing to make the said stove, he deems it his duty to inform such persons, and the public generally, that prompt measures will be taken to prosecute all such infringements. He also intends having an agency in Boston, where the public can be supplied with said Conical Stove on liberal terms, at wholesale and retail.

POETRY.

"It is related of Carolan, the Irish Bard, that after his loss of sight, and the lapse of twenty years, he recognised his first love by the touch of her hand."—Lover's Traditions of Ireland.

"True love can ne'er forget,
Fondly as when we met,
Dearest, I love thee yet,
My darling one !"

"Thus sang a minstrel grey
His sweet impassioned lay
Down by the ocean's spray,
At rise of sun.

But withered was the minstrel's sight,
Morn to him was dark as night,
Yet his heart was full of light
As he this lay begun.
"True love can ne'er forget," &c.

"Long years are past and o'er
Since from this fatal shore
Cold hearts and cold winds bore
My love from me."

Scarcely the minstrel spoke
When, quick with flashing stroke,
A boat's light oar the silence broke,
Over the sea.

Soon upon her native strand
Doth a lovely lady land,
While the minstrel's love-taught hand
Did o'er his sweet harp run,
True love can ne'er forget, &c.

Where the minstrel sat alone
There that lady fair hath gone,
Within his hand she placed her own,
The bard dropt on his knee.

From his lip soft blessings came—
He kissed her hand with truest flame,
In trembling tones he named her name,
Tho' her he could not see.

But oh ! the touch the bard could tell
Of that dear hand remembered well.
Ah ! by many a secret spell
Can true love trace his own !
For true love can ne'er forget;
Fondly as when they met,
He loved his lady yet,
His darling one !

Foreign Summary—From the N. Y. Star.

A curious circumstance has occurred in Leicestershire, which has terminated fatally, and excites considerable attention.

The lady's husband is a sporting character, and gave offence, in some way, to the lady's father. Her mother is sister to the Duchess of Marlborough and the Earl of Galloway, and has been a beauty. The husband was out shooting at his own seat, when his father-in-law, with nine other persons, came to his house and obtained an entry as visitors. He then, with his butler, entered the lady's chamber, wrapped the lady up in shawls and cloaks, and placed her in a carriage. They drove her home, and—she died in two days. The names of the husband and father have not transpired ; but of their identity there is no doubt.

O'Connell is not unseated for Dublin, but expects it.—The Parliamentary Committee to decide on the validity of his election, has been setting nearly twelve months, and has already cost $500,000. This is paid by the parties themselves : this is by O'Connell and Ruthven, the sitting members, and by Hamilton and West, the unsuccessful, and petitioning candidates. The present cost to each party is £90 a day !

Of the 56 persons for trial at the late Stafford Assizes, only three could read and write. Let our neighbors adopt our school systems.

A young man, a travelling merchant, having 1200 francs about his person, was recently murdered near Compeigne (France) in a most shocking manner, by the mistress of the inn where he slept, who cut his body in pieces and threw them into the river, but was detected by the blood on the napkin on which she had wiped her hands.

Countess Bertrand, wife of Napoleon's faithful friend, recently died at her Chateau of Laleux, near Chateauroux.

The once famous Grub street, London, has lately been called "Milton street," and a literary institution has been founded and is flourishing there.

St Patricks day in Dublin passed over without the slightest tumult. The Lord Lieutenant appeared in the streets on horseback, with a huge shamrock in his hat.

At last, Meyerbeer's new opera, Les Huguenots is succeding at Paris.

The approaching Musical Festival at Drury Lane, is expected to be very fine.

BOSTON MORNING POST.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 4, 1836.

The Deposite Banks.—The Worcester Palladium makes the following remarks upon the recent returns of the Deposite Banks :—

"In the above account of the debts of the Deposite Banks, there is an item of above six millions which is very summarily disposed of under the head of 'other liabilities' Can any one tell what those 'other liabilities' are, for which neither the Banks nor the Secretary of the Treasury can find a name? One of the Pet Banks in Boston has about $10,000 of 'other liabilities.' Are they commissions due to the agent or agents of the Banks who reside near the Secretary of the Treasury?—or are they premiums to the PARTY, which are to go into the great Corruption Fund, to influence the elections, and enable them to retain the forty millions of government money, for their own benefit, and without any interest therefor or service rendered to the country.

"There is also another item which needs an explanation. After enumerating all the customary resources of the Banks, the schedule gives them credit for over twelve millions of 'other investments.' As the two Boston Pets claim about $60,000 of this vaguely described sum, we would hint to the Morning Post the propriety of its explaining their character. Where are the 'other investments?' Are they invested in newspaper establishments, with which the Administration can control the political movements of the time?"

In the detailed statements sent by the Banks to the Treasury, the items constituting these "other liabilities" are given separately, and consist in the Banks of this city, of unclaimed dividends and special deposites.

In those returns the "other investments" are given in the same way, and consist of loans in stock—investments in stock, suspended debts and checks or bills in transitu. They have been placed under the heads of "other liabilities" and "other investments," for the purpose of condensing the Treasury returns. There are no investments by the Deposite Banks "in newspaper establishments, to control the political movements of the times," nor for any other purpose. Federal Banks and corporations claim such investments exclusively as their "vested rights." The Bank of the United States had heavy investments in this kind of property, such as in the National Intelligencer, the Courier and Enquirer, &c. &c. &c., and still heavier investments in Bank CONGRESS MEN, to name whom would be but "wasteful and ridiculous excess."

The locks and Canal Corporation, at Lowell, had also "an investment" in a two-penny "newspaper establishment" in that place, to control the politics of the "operatives ;" about which transfer and investment we hope the Editor of the Palladium, who knows, we believe, something about this business, will give the public as explicit information as we have, relative to the "other investments" of the Deposite Banks.

Mrs Gurner, of the Park Theatre.—This lady is said to be a charming actress, and one of the loveliest women of the day. A friend writes to us concerning her in the following enthusiastic strain:—"You should see Mrs Gurner, of the Park, to appreciate the effect which simple beauty of person and grace of manner can produce upon the stage, without being joined to any extraordinary histrionic power. Yet Mrs G. is by no means deficient in ability as an actress. Her conception of her characters is very chaste and correct ; and although she does not throw any great spirit into her performances, there is sufficien vivacity to render them highly pleasing. Her deportment is gentle and lady-like, and you always feel the greatest certainty that she will do nothing to offend the strictest taste. Her figure is faultless, both in size and height ; her head is shaped after the most classic model ; her features are regularly beautiful, and her expression is of a most bewildering sweetness. She would "take" wonderfully in Boston, where an unsullied reputation is thought to be a necessary requisite for a player. I hope the excellent manager of the Tremont will be induced to engage her for the next theatrical season. He would find his account in so doing in the universal admiration which her remarkable attractions would inspire."

A friend in Philadelphia, who has taken lodgings at the Head quarters of good living, writes to us thus—"Were I inditing a paragraph for the Post now, I would say—

The Mansion House.—If there is a better hotel than Head's at Philadelphia, we should like to see it ; for then we should see what is argued at present as an impossibilibility. There is a quiet combined with cheerfulness and elegance and luxury about this house, which we never before witnessed. The courtesy and attention which are due to gentlemen seem to be perfectly understood and unsparingly paid. "Our host is 'a man, take him for all in all, we ne'er shall look upon his like again.'" We put this quotation in prose because there is no poetry in the literal fact. The wines are delicious, old and smooth, and as various as taste can require. At the table one enjoys all the perfect arrangements with which he could expect to be regaled at a friend's palace, with all the ease he could wish to take in his inn. We say not this by way of puff, (for numbers, to the regret of the benevolent host, are forced every day, to leave his hospitable door,) but to give expression to the satisfaction with which we were inspired by every thing at the Mansion House.!"

☞ Among the articles in the last number of the American Monthly, we have been particularly pleased with the tone of "Our Countryman Abroad"—the writer's views are sensible, and lucidly expressed. "The Indian Treaty Scene" is interesting. The strain upon "Allston" is pitched rather too high—not but the artist is worthy of every clever thing that can be said of him—we believe he is, professionally and personally—we should only prefer a different key. "Aphorisms on Goethe"—one page of them would have done very well. "Our Forefathers"—a good attempt—the "Young American" is right—let him go ahead. "Oriental Readings"—evinces information and talent. The Poetry in this number is not of a very high order.

A most shocking Murder was committed on the Baltimore and Susquehannah Railroad, about 20 miles from Baltimore, on Tuesday last. A German laborer had applied for board at the shanty of one of the superintendents, and was refused. Knowing that the husband was from home on that night, he repaired to the shanty, where he found the unfortunate woman alone, and having discharged a gun at her, he hastened the effect of the wound inflicted by it, or finished the work of murder, with a knife. He then rifled the shanty of what money it contained, and made off.

Mr Johnson takes his farewell benefit this evening at the Tremont. As an actor in the Kilner line—old men—he approaches nearer the excellence of that unequalled theatrician, than any individual who has appeared here within the past eight or nine years. But his histronic talents are by no means confined to one department of his profession. As a vocalist he has acquired much distinction, and contributed essentially to the success which attended the production of the Operas during the existence of "the Wood compact." His bill presents extraordinary attraction, and we hope will be promptly honored.

Mr Durand, the Engraver, has published two very beautiful prints, in honor of General Washington and President Jackson. Each of them occupies a sheet about 32 by 20 inches—in the centre is a beautiful portrait of the individual, surrounded by a simple and touching eulogy, engraved with great taste and ornamented with appropriate flourishes.

An Agent is now in the city for the purpose of disposing of copies, to such as may wish to purchase them.

Shocking Accident.—The Baltimore Patriot mentions the death of a young female, named Amelia Sparks, residing in Stirling street, Old Town, under very distressing circumstances. She was in the act of moving a loaded gun, by carelessly dragging it across her apartment, when the charge exploded, and the whole contents entered her head, inflicting a terrible wound, and causing instant death.

On the drawing of a lottery at the South recently, two negro girls, Rebecca and Matilda, each of whom held two tickets, drew themselves respectively, and Rebecca also drew a steamboat, in which she immediately embarked for New Orleans. Matilda's second ticket drew a sorrel mare, upon which she also set off for the same place.

It has recently been discovered that Hygean pills are an infallible remedy for the ear-ache. You must roll up the pill in a bit of wash-leather, lay it under a brick on the bottom of the cellar, drop a little beat-juice into your ear, and go quietly to bed. If you are not cured by morning, it will be because your case is a very obstinate one.

Virginia Elections.—The Richmond Enquirer says—"We conclude, from the best data, that we shall carry the State by as large a majority, if not larger, than we obtained last year. And in the Senate we shall gain one additional member."

The Legislature of Connecticut will convene in New Haven to-day—a strong majority of its members are of the right sort. It is very much such a Legislature as we shall have in Massachusetts next year, only ours will be a great deal the biggest.

The last Salt River paper announces the completion of extensive preparations for the reception of the Massachusetts whigs—they have erected a spacious office for the Atlas, and a fortified castle for the Committee of Public Safety. That's all right enough.

Common Pleas.—Patrick Riley, Esq., was yesterday admitted as an attorney and counsellor at law, by Chief Justice Ward, of the Court of Common Pleas, in conformity to the regulations prescribed in the Revised Statutes.

The Advocate says—"We are writing this article with a pen made from a knife formed of the steel manufactured by the Sterling Company, of New York."

The ice broke up at Montreal on the 26th ult. doing great damage. A small house, occupied by a man named White, his wife and two children, was buried in the avalanche.

A Rumor is in circulation, that James Wilson, Jr. of Keene, N. H., has been appointed by the President, Governor of the Territory of Wisconsin. We do not credit it.

Beef at Bangor is ten cents a pound, and calf's meat seven cents, says the Advertiser. We shall expect a fillet of veal and a choice cut of beef by the next boat.

The Attorney General has given notice that the Bill abolishing Imprisonment for Debt will be forthwith introduced into the House of Lords.

Mr and Mrs Ternan are at Cincinnati. Booth has so far recovered from his indisposition as to be able shortly to fulfil an engagement at the Walnut street theatre.

Our compositors will have it that Mr Lewis plays the male characters to which his wife is cast.

Military.—John O. Sargent Esq.—Junior Editor of the Atlas—was yesterday elected Lieutenant of the militia company commanded by Capt. Proctor. John is urging his forces to join Santa Anna, against the Texicans, but the Editor of the Advocate, one of his rank and file, although strongly in favor of the Lieutenant's election, says he "can't follow."Let us hear no more, Mr Atlas, about "military chieftains," while Major Haughton, Captain Eastburn, and Lieutenant Sargent dwell under the same roof.

The dedication of the new meeting house, erected by Rev Mr Fairchild's Society, will take place this day, at 3 o'clock, P. M.

The last rumor—that the Ellen Jewett tragedy is about to be dramatised, and that a certain New York editor will make his first appearance on any stage as Robinson.

Real Estate is going up in Springfield, at a rapid rate—we have some idea of taking a bond of the town.

The merchants of Norfolk are getting up a Chamber of Commerce.

It is rumored that Charles Kemble will retire from the stage at the close of the present season.

The fifth Concert of the Boston Academy of Music will be given at the Odeon this evening.

Brick.—There is at the Hall of the Franklin Institute, the model of a machine for moulding brick from dry clay, by which four men and boys can, with the aid of a horse, make about 14,000 bricks per day from the dry clay, and lay them on the kiln, ready for burning, the bricks thus formed requiring no process of tempering.—U. S. Gaz.

The Detroit Free Press of the 19th inst., gives a melancholy account of the destructive freshets which have visited that portion of the Territory. All the main streams emptying into the lakes and rivers on the eastern shore of the Peninsula, have risen to a height scarcely ever known before. Bridges, mill dams; and even houses, have in many instances been swept away.

POLICE COURT.

Burnt Out.—The whole city was set all-agog yesterday morning, with the report, contained in one of the morning papers, that the incendiary, who set Mr Holden's stable on fire, on Monday night, was detected, under circumstances that left no doubt of his guilt, and about 9, yesterday morning, "men piled on men," were seen grinning in anxious array over the iron railing that so sternly separates the spectators from the various practitioners in the Police Court. Their curiosity was gratified with the privilege of witnessing the arraignment of poor John Farnsworth, a vagabond from time immemorial, who was charged by Capt Glover, of the West Watch, with being a common drunkard, and a vagrant. Farnsworth was committed to the custody of the watch, by three young men, viz.:—William F. Veazie, Thomas R Snow, and Robert Breck, for reasons which were explained by Mr Veazie, as follows:—

"We had been at the fire in Market street, [Cornhill] and stopped a few minutes by the Warren Theatre, talking, in the moonlight; and it was not long before I saw light down the street, which I supposed might be a fire, and ran down. Just as I got round the corner, I saw Farnsworth crawling out between the carpenter's shop and the stable—he retreated back, when he saw me, but the flames were too strong for him to go back, and he then tried to sheer off, but I took hold of him, and said to him that he had been setting fire to the shop. He said he had not, but had only been under the shop for a shelter. I did not know whether to believe him or not, and so we handed him over to a watchman, and he might let him go, or not, as he pleased. He had in his pocket two or three cigars, and a piece of match, with brimstone on one end, and burnt at the other."

In the watch-house, to the following question, propounded by Mr Glover, "Where did you get the match?" Farnsworth gave the following written answer:—

"I got the match at Mr Spaulding's shop, and borrowed a lamp also, and went over to Fessenden's Blacksmith's, and lit the lamp and went over to Captain B——'s house, and made a fire at the request of Mrs B——, which was about a week since, and after lighting the lamp I put the match in my pocket.

John Farnsworth."

With a brief remark of commendation on Farnsworth's economy for husbanding the half-burnt match, against a time of greater necessity, we pass to the evidence of the police officers as to the habits of loafers in general. It was said, "that a dozen might be dug out under the shops on the mill pond, on any warm night, without any other furniture, than a pipe, or a cigar, and a bottle." The witness "had known six boys to sleep under one shop on a summer night." One officer "had seen an Irishman and his wife, sitting among the shavings, smoking pipes like fury, with their dahter asleep alongside on 'em."

All the witnesses had known Farnsworth for years, and declared him to be as "free from malignity as he was destitute of decency," and there was no reason whatever to doubt his statement about the match, as he was a man of the truth. He was brought up a clockmaker, but kept bad time and took to drinking so intemperately that his family left him, and he went to sea some times, and sometimes to the House of Correction. The final conclusion, therefore, from all the evidence was, that though, like Jemmy Twitcher, he might have robbed a hen-roost, and, cannibal like, have sucked the eggs, yet he was not a villain of sufficient dignity of depravity to attempt so daring an exploit as setting fire to a barn.

As a vagrant and drunkard, he was sent to the house of Correction, for another term of six months.

The poor fellow admitted to the Court, that he was in liquor, when he laid down to sleep under the shop; but he looked quite depressed and dispirited, for in addition to being burnt out, full one half of his hair was burnt off, before the heat of the surrounding flames awoke him.

This circumstance, recalls a similar anecdote of a pedlar, who fell asleep in a state of intoxication in his wagon, which some mad wags mischievously set fire to, as he lay snoring. In a short time, the crackling of the flames aroused him, and, forgetting where he was but imagining that the day of judgment had arrived, and his mortal moral merits, been decided on, he exclaimed—"In h—— l, by jingo, just as I expected."

N. B.—If ever the real incendiary be convicted and put on trial for setting fire to a house in the night time, a grave question will arise on the indictment, requiring all the legal acumen and sagacity of the counsel, and the learning and wisdom of the bench, to decide whether Farnsworth was lawfully within the premises, according to the meaning of the Statute Vide, The Trials of the Convent Burners.

More Fires.—A fire broke out last [Monday] night, about half-past 11 o'clock, in the upper story of a building in Cornhill, corner of Franklin avenue, occupied by Mr Charles Lloyd as a looking-glass factory, but was extinguished with little damage.

Just after midnight, another fire broke out in Edwards & Trombly's carpenter's shop, on Portland street, which was destroyed, together with a stable occupied by Mr John Holton, truckman, a dwelling-house occupied by Mrs Slade, and some adjacent sheds.—Trans.

The alarm of fire between 2 and 3 o'clock yesterday, proceeded from a carpenter's shop in Causeway street, occupied by Washburn & Brothers. It was extinguished without any material injury.

Every vote for Webster is a vote for White.—The Atlas of April 27, in calculating the votes for President, said—"According to our calculation, which is based upon the opinions of men better informed on the subject than we are, the vote in opposition to Mr Van Buren will stand, for Harrison 95, White, 57, Webster 14, Total 166."

Here the organ of Mr Webster claims but 14 votes for Webster, giving Van Buren 122, Harrison 95, and White 57. Of course, Webster is excluded from the House, the three highest candidates only going there, so that the only object, as confessed by the Atlas, in voting for Webster, in Massachusetts, is to select White or Harrison in the House!—Advocate.

From Texas.—A letter dated on board the De Kalb, Mississippi River, April 7th, contains confirmatory details of the massacre of Col. Fannin and his troops. A letter from Mr Lumpkin in Texas, to Gen. Bethune, at Columbus, gives a minute account of the affair. All Col. Fannin's party were killed but five.—They had capitulated with the promise from Santa Anna that they should be treated as prisoners of war.—Their arms were taken from them, and the next morning they were all shot by order of the tyrant.

From Europe.—The packet ships St James, from London, and Albany, from Havre, have arrived since Saturday. The dates are March 26th from London, and 24th from Paris. We have not yet received our files of French papers, but it is said that an arrangement has been made for the immediate payment of the indemnification.—N. Y. Com.

Naval.—The Potomac and John Adams, were at Gibraltar on the 29th of March, and were to sail on that day for Lisbon, with stores for the Constitution and Shark; officers and crews all well. The ship Peacock and schr Enterprize sailed from Colombo on the 25th of December, for the coast of Sumatra.

Shad are still selling at $16 a $20 per hundred in our markets, as the "run" has not yet been full, and the demand from the country heavy. Herrings $5 per thousand on Thursday.—U. S. Gaz.

The Louisville and Nashville papers have raised their rates of advertising, in consequence of the raise in the wages of the Journeymen Printers.

Municipal.—In the Board of Aldermen, on Monday, leave was granted to close North Margin street for thirty days, for the purpose of building and making some improvements therein. Several petitions for widening Winter street, by cutting off the projecting portion of a wooden building at the foot thereof—for widening Temple street—for improving Milk street—for paving certain parts of Tremont, below Boylston street, and for numbering the buildings therein—were presented and referred. Two remonstrances against continuing Federal to Broad street, were also referred. A petition for an Engine at East Boston was referred to the Committee on the Fire Department.

Abner Bourne was chosen Superintendent of Public Lands in concurrence.

Mr Dearborn, proprietor of the engines for watering the streets, appeared before the Board with a model of a machine to supply the reservoirs with water. It consists of a large cistern capable of containing from 100 to 150 hogsheads, to be filled by pumps worked by horse power. It is proposed to locate it at the foot of South Market street, at an elevation of 11 feet above the level of said street, and by means of hose conducting the water from it, to fill the reservoirs within a reasonable distance, and also to extinguish any fire that may occur in the neighborhood, without having recourse to the engines. Mr Dearborn estimates that the expense of filling reservoirs in this manner will not be more than one half of the method used at present.—The subject will be further considered at or before the next meeting of the Board.

At 6 o'clock the Board went into secret session and closed the doors against spectators, reporters as well as others.—Atlas.

CONGRESS.

Saturday April 30.—In Senate, Mr White submitted a resolution intended as a substitute for the "expunging process" of Mr Benton, and declares that the condemnatory resolution be "rescinded, reversed and annulled." The resolution lies one day for consideration. The bill authorizing the issue of a patent for the prevention of dry rot in ships to J. H. Kyan, of Ireland, was passed. The joint resolution authorizing the president to nominate a trustee to act as agent for the United States, in the proceedings necessary to obtain the money bequeathed to the U. States by Mr Smithson, of England, was discussed and finally ordered to be engrossed for a third reading, 31 to 7.

The House was not in session.

Florida War.—The schooner Motion, arrived at Charleston, which left Jacksonville, E. Florida, April 20th, brings no intelligence whatever. The general impression was that Gen. Scott had marched on to Tampa, without meeting any Indians.

Novel Importation.—Five large African male asses, of a nearly milk-white color, were on Saturday landed from the brig Commaquid, which arrived at New York on Friday, from Gibraltar.

St Louis, April 19.—Negro Insurrection.—The Salt River Journal notices a threatened insurrection of some of the negroes in the neighborhood of Loutre Island, Mo.

From Brazil.—The Jornal do Commercio of the 6th of March has been received at New York. It contains no intelligence of interest. The advices from Rio Grande have been anticipated.

The trial of Hamilton, for the murder of Mr Duffy, manager of the theatre at Albany, has resulted in an acquittal.

"In the state of things at present existing in this country, my personal wishes are, to withdraw my name from the place it occupies before the public."

Daniel Webster.

ADAMS'S PATENT

THE subscriber has on hand a good assortment of the Swelled Beam Windlass Bedsteads, which, for comfort and convenience is undoubtedly the best article yet invented; its chief peculiarity is that of the Swelled Beam, the effect of which is to produce a crowning, and elastic sacking, and effectually provides against its saging. They are easily set up or taken down, and may be saved in case of fire as easily as any other piece of furniture, and from its mode of construction less liable to harbor insects than any other kind; but above all its advantages is the ease and comfort obtained from the sacking, by means of its being made and kept elastic by means of the Swelled Beam, (the form of which is exhibited in the above cut.)

Orders thankfully received, and promptly attended to
CHARLES ADAMS, Patentee,
422 Washington st. a few doors south of Washington Bank.

C. A. has added a steam power to his manufactory which will enable him to give a full supply at a cheaper rate than hertofore.

HIGHLY IMPORTANT.

LETTERS PATENT have been granted to Charles Lane for important improvements in the construction of GRATES for BURNING ANTHRACITE COAL and WOOD, in open fire places, on a new principle. By the improvements in the LANE GRATE, combustion being supported by heated air, the most stubborn anthracite coal can be so freely ignited that the SURFACE of the fire presents the same glowing heat that is exhibited by the interior. In this Grate MOISTURE and pure, warm air, those important desiderata, are obtained, whereby those old objections, the destruction of furniture by shrinking, injury to house plants, and the difficulty experienced by some persons in breathing a dry atmosphere, heated by anthracite coal, are completely removed. This Grate, for cleanliness, surpasses any fire-place, grate, or stove for burning any kind of fuel, and being got up in an elegant style, will supersede those of other descriptions now in use.

The undersigned having purchased the PATENT RIGHT for the United States, have made extensive preparations for the manufacture of the LANE PATENT GRATE, and will receive orders at 22 School street, for the same, and at 62 Congress street, (up stairs,) where the public are invited to call and see one in operation.
